Engage reunion planners!

Reunions magazine and related web sites (reunionismag.com; facebook.com/Reunionismagazine; Pinterest.com/reunionismag) cater solely to reunion planners, their needs and requirements to stage a memorable event for their group.

Reunion Influencers! Reunions require two significant sides to be successful. Reunion Planning Influencers are organizing a reunion for their family, class, military or other group. Reunion Serving Influencers are businesses who want to meet and serve reunion planners. Both groups meet in Reunions magazine.

For over 25 years, the two groups have met happily in the print edition of Reunions magazine. Our new emphasis is on social media where reunion planners also go for reunion planning information. Meet reunion planners right where you think they'd be looking for you. Explore reunionismag.com, facebook, twitter, Pinterest and pick the space you want to occupy! If you don't find it, suggest how we might make it.

Reunions magazine's ONLY audience is reunion influencers. The planning influencers are making purchasing decisions for groups averaging 50. For the curious, thinking about planning a reunion, reunionismag.com answers lots of questions they've not even thought of. And, it's a real task, as anyone who's planned a reunion will tell you. But it's also a labor of love and one that deserves a lot of support and help to achieve. Make sure your message is there to encourage them.

Reunion planners say they can't do it all. They know they need help. Who's going to help? There are many Reunion Serving Influencers who can be helpful and we urge you to be one. Reunion planners are looking for help from convention and visitors bureaus, hotels, resorts, cruises, ranches, bed and breakfasts, inns, t-shirt suppliers, memento makers, caterers, florists, motor coaches, attractions and entertainment and ... and ... and ...

NOTE: The following advertising opportunities across Reunions magazine's web pages can be purchased individually or in packages. All ads must be paid in advance of placement online. Placement will be based upon direction from the advertiser for when and where ads appear. Every effort will be made to provide the space at the time the advertiser requests it. In the event of duplicate wishes, placement will be for the advertiser whose materials and payment arrive first.
