Don't LEAF us hanging! We need your help with the Family TREE.

We're constantly working to keep the ever-expanding Family TREE current, and our problem STEMS from the fact that we don't have everyone's information. We have deep family ROOTS and we're still BRANCHING out. We WOOD really like the Seidemann Family Tree of over 5,900 recorded members to STICK around for generations to come. We're PINING for your information, so please fill out the Seidemann Family Genealogy Form on page 3. Make sure your family's legacy is recorded.

Send the filled-out form to: secretary@seidemannfamily.org or mail to:
Seidemann Reunion, P.O. Box 184, Newburg, WI 53090-0184.

Living Heritage Presentation — Begins at 1:15 P.M.

The Seidemans in Dairy

Building dairy barn 1904

When our ancestors came to America over 170 years ago, there were no food stores and few restaurants. Immigrants raised their own livestock and grew produce or purchased directly from farmers. Many of our ancestors in Germany and in Wisconsin had dairy cows which they milked by hand.

Over the last 100 years, milk production per cow has increased sixfold. From selective breeding of cattle to new product development, the dairy industry led the way in food innovation, and our Seidemann families were very involved.

These changes happened on the Ray Seideman dairy farm. The farm grew from 5 cows in 1860 to nearly 100 cows in the late 1960s. Ray was very proud to have the dairy approved to ship "fluid" milk starting in the 1940s.

Our Presentation will be given by Dr. Steve Seideman, who spent 14 of his summers at the farm working for his grandfather Ray, milking cows, working in the fields, and eating Grandma Clara's great cooking.

Contribute to the next Seidemann History and Family Tree Book

New generations have been born since the 2005 published history and family tree book, so it's time to prepare for the next one. WE CAN'T DO IT WITHOUT YOUR HELP! We need volunteers. Specifically:

1. Someone with database expertise and some programming skills to adjust the family trees to handle new members. (The 2005 Edition used Microsoft Access software, though another could be utilized in its place.)
2. Volunteers to contact relatives for email and mailing addresses and genealogical information.

If you are able to help, please email: secretary@seidemannfamily.org or send note to: Seidemann Reunion, P.O. Box 184, Newburg, WI 53060-0184.
